

45 Complete Course At Junior College

Dr. R. B. Von Kleinsmidt held the close attention of a great crowd at the Chaffey Junior College graduation exercises last night, and received an ovation at the close of his address. He called upon the graduates to realize the place that was waiting them in the world if they realized their opportunities, and held fast to truth, industry and vision. Dr. Von Kleinsmidt's address was crowded with humorous anecdotes and interesting illustrations.

Dean Charles J. Booth presided during the evening.

The Chaffey Community Orchestra, under direction of Fred Wilding, played two splendid numbers, and the program was interspersed by musical numbers by members of the Chaffey Junior College.

Miss Vera Baker sang a solo, "Oh Love, Thy Help," by Saint-Saens; Ord Toomey pleased with his song, "The Blind Ploughman," and Irma Jacobs sang with feeling, "One Fine Day," from Madam Butterfly.

The Junior College Men's Glee Club and the Junior College Girls' Glee each sang during the program. Director S. Earle Blakeslee presided at the piano.

"Air de Ballet" was the title of the piano solo by Miss Edith Gilbert, and the ever popular "Grand Chorus" was the organ solo which Miss Doris Cheel played.

Miss Othelia Toomey sketched briefly the history of the Women's Organization of the Chaffey Junior College, and in behalf of that organization presented the scholarship prize of $50 to Miss Ohly. This prize is awarded annually and is to be used to help the recipient finish her college education.

The president of the graduating class, which numbers 44 young people, Mr. Converse York, stated that he was commissioned by the class to thank Principal Merton E. Hill, Dean Charles J. Booth, the Board of Trustees, and all who had made it possible for the students to enjoy the advantages at Chaffey. He pledged the class to try to carry out in service to others the lessons that they had learned at Chaffey.

Mr. York presented the class to Mr. Hill, who in turn certified to Mr. Edward C. Harwood that the class were worthy to receive the certificates of graduation. Mr. Hill stated that 25 members of the faculty of the University of California have inspected the work at Chaffey and that the credits issued last night will be accepted at full face value at that university or at any educational center.

In a few well chosen words President Harwood congratulated the class upon their achievements thus far and called on them to take a large place in the affairs of their communities.

The graduation of 44 Junior College students marks the close of a successful and significant year in the life of our school. It is doubtful if the Junior College will ever be a school great in numbers, for the financial limitations are great. However, during the coming years is an increasing standard of work to be upheld, and the Chaffey Junior College diploma will be a prize to be coveted.

The list of graduates follows. The wide territory from which the Chaffey Junior College has drawn this year is shown by the schools from which the young people have come, nearly twenty high school districts being represented.

VACATIONAL BIBLE SCHOOL TO OPEN

A Daily Vacational Bible School is to be held again this summer and will be open to all children from the kindergarten to the junior ages. This includes children up to and including 12 years of age. No sharp line will be drawn as to age, but there will be the following three departments: Kindergarten, under Miss Dorothy Trunkfield; Primary, under Miss Clara Williams; Junior, under Miss Charlotte Shingler. Professor Lucas Horsch, son of Rev. M. M. Horsch and a principal of schools in Kansas, will be the principal.

If the enrollment makes it necessary, the juniors and primaries will each be divided so there will be five rooms. The committee in charge are chosen from the Sunday schools of the Methodist, Nazarene and Presbyterian churches. They have arranged to have the use of the basement of the East Tenth Street School.

All children are invited. There will be no fee. The only requirement will be regularity and obedience. A large attendance is expected. Registration day will be on Saturday, June 23rd.

A WATER PROBLEM COMMITTEE NAMED

President L. R. Bradley of the Upland Chamber of Commerce has appointed as a committee on water problems Mr. Chas. V. Barr, Mr. G. B. Harrison and Mr. T. R. Woodbridge. This appointment will meet instant approval, for these men are well fitted to help the city trustees find the solution for the problem that Upland is facing at this time.

Consulting Engineer Hinkley has reported that the City of Upland can acquire the water systems, develop more water and extend the reservoir and piping systems and make the whole proposition a financial success, with the probable result that rates may be lowered at some time not very far distant. Every citizen has a vital interest in the water question, and the whole community will support its representatives when they have worked out a satisfactory plan.

CAMPBELL GRANTED THAYER FELLOWSHIP

High honors for an Upland boy are seen in word just received here today from Cambridge, Mass., to the effect that Arthur S. Campbell, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Campbell of Eleventh Avenue, a graduate student in zoology at Harvard University, has been awarded a Thayer fellowship for the coming year.

This fellowship provides for a year of advanced study at Harvard and would permit the Upland youth to continue his study of zoology. But on top of this comes yet further honor, for young Mr. Campbell has also been offered an assistant professorship in zoology at the University of California.

When interviewed about their son today, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell were uncertain which offer he would accept. He has been in China for the past year or more studying and lecturing on zoology, but expects to sail for home on the 4th of July, arriving in Upland three weeks later.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Maxwell leave on Thursday for Creston, Iowa, where they will spend the next few months. They will be accompanied by their granddaughter, Miss Lorraine Maxwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Maxwell, of Eighth Avenue, who will remain in the east for several weeks, visiting relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell still retain their property here on Second Avenue, which will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Draper while they are away, and they plan to return here for the winter.

SPECIAL MEETING OF C. OF C. CALLED

A special meeting of the board of directors of the Upland Chamber of Commerce has been called to meet promptly at seven-thirty tonight at the directors' room of the Ontario-Cucamonga Fruit Exchange. The meeting will be short and to the point and every director is urged to be present on time. The members of the Chamber of Commerce are always welcome at the meetings of their organization.

The special order of business tonight will be arrangements for a permanent office for the organization. The need for an office has been increasing from week to week, and now seems the proper time to put the Chamber of Commerce on a business basis.

YUCCA PLANTS ARE GIVEN PROTECTION

Picking of Yucca plants or blossoms in the San Bernardino Mountains was made unlawful yesterday when the Board of Supervisors passed an ordinance providing for a fine of $50 or a 30-day jail sentence, or both, for destruction of the famous plant of the hills that is threatened with extinction by the raids of campers.

The campaign to save the yucca was started by W. M. Bristol. The supervisors agreed yesterday that the ordinance should be adopted and to make it effective immediately passed the measure as an emergency ordinance. It is a copy of the Los Angeles County ordinance on the subject.

The measure prohibits the picking of yucca on both public and private lands, unless in the case of private lands permission is first given by the owner.

The picking of snow plant is already prohibited by state law, and thus the two principal flowers of the mountains are now protected by law.

Award Paving Contract
Contract for the paving of San Antonio Avenue, between Walnut and Ely, in the west end of the county, was awarded to H. H. Lienau on a bid of $13,100. He agrees to complete the work in 60 days. Other bidders were: Fleming Construction Company, $12,300; J. F. Knapp, $13,600; W. D. Bohan, $14,000. The estimate of the engineer was $12,699.40.

Wants Humane Officer
R. E. Lodge of Redlands, president of the San-Bernardino County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, yesterday urged the supervisors to appoint a humane officer to succeed John H. B. Allen, who recently resigned. The place pays $600 a year, and the supervisors have been seriously contemplating including the item in the retrenchment on the budget. No action was taken on Mr. Lodge's appeal.

Refuse License for Pool Room
Application for a pool room license at Victorville was refused by the supervisors. Recently a protest was filed against the opening of the pool room in the vicinity of a church at Victorville.

Map of Olive Park subdivision, north of San Bernardino, was approved.

CAMPBELL STORE TO OPEN JUE 30TH

Present indications are that this week will see the completion of one more attractive place of business, for the new location of Campbell's Ready-to-Wear Shop is receiving its finishing touches.

The probable opening date for the new Campbell store will be on Saturday, June 30th.

Not only is the new location equipped with most attractive show windows, but the interior has been worked out to a most attractive and inviting place. Although it has taken many more days to complete the rebuilding of the store room, H. S. Campbell believes that the new place of business will not only please patrons, but will be a much more ideal place in which to work and carry on the business.

The widowed charlady was a little abstracted. Her mistress suspected a second romance, and made such kindly inquiries that the truth emerged. "Yes, mum, I suppose I am courtin'." And yet I don't know for sure, 'cos 'e's been fishin' up in Bedford for the last six months."

ALFORD AND STATE MAY COMPROMISE

F. E. Alford may yet accept the state's compromise offer of immunity from further prosecution by dropping his appeal of the jury's verdict by which he was convicted of the $30,000 theft while city manager of Ontario.

For hours yesterday Alford was in conference with his wealthy aunt, Mrs. W. J. Dozier, and attorneys at the county jail discussing, it is believed, an attempt to settle with the law. Alford refused to reveal what was decided at the conferences.

"No decision has been reached," he said, when asked if "there was not something in the air."

Much Discussed
It is known that more than Alford's defense to the conspiracy charges, on which he and John E. Huling, a Los Angeles business man, were indicted, were discussed at the conference, in which Attorneys Paul W. Schenk and Raymond E. Hodge participated. Alford's mother, Mrs. Sarah Alford, and Mrs. Dozier visited the convicted man frequently during the day, as did two of Alford's former business associates of Ontario.

If a decision to accept the state's compromise was reached, Chief Deputy District Attorney M. O. Hert was not advised, he said in a statement announcing that, "so far as I know, Alford will go on trial with Huling on June 21."

"Today, the state has issued subpoenas to nearly 50 witnesses for the Alford and Huling trial," said the chief deputy district attorney. "We are continuing to prepare our case, although I will admit that I have heard reports of an attempted settlement of some character."

Immunity Offered
Mr. Hert two weeks ago offered immunity to Alford from future prosecution on the graft charges if the ex-city manager would agree to drop his appeal of his conviction. Alford indignantly refused, asserting he would "fight to the end to vindicate my friends' faith in me."

Last week Paul Schenk, a noted criminal attorney, was called into the case, indicating that Alford had contemplated a fight, or his defense, although he yesterday said that it had not been definitely decided that Attorney Schenk would represent him in the coming trial.

"We are preparing a fight," Alford said last night, although he appeared reluctant to discuss the conferences during the day. If a compromise offer was discussed, none of the participants in the series of conferences would admit it.

Compromise Blocked
It is known that the City of Ontario's civil suit against Alford, in which the city trustees seek to recover nearly $60,000 alleged to have been embezzled by the ex-city manager, has twice blocked attempts of attorneys to reach a compromise. Alford's attorneys are known to have refused to grant concessions without reducing the civil suit's demands to $30,000, at least—a decision which the city's trustees and attorneys denied.

"The state's terms are unchanged," Mr. Hert said, and added that he did not believe any developments possible will interrupt the coming trial.

WILDING TO DIRECT REDLANDS BAND

Redlands is to be congratulated on being able to secure the services of Fred Wilding, bandmaster of the Upland Municipal Band and director of several orchestras at Chaffey, to organize a band of twenty-five men, who will give open-air concerts during the coming summer, such as Upland has enjoyed for the past many seasons.

W. C. Guertch, prominent business man of Redlands, will be associated with Mr. Wilding in making the concerts the success they have always been here.

HER MANY, SMALL RESPONSIBILITIES
The mistress was interviewing the new charwoman. "Have you been married, Susan?" she inquired.

"Twicet, mum," Susan told her. "Have you any children?"

"Yes, mum. I've three. One by th' third wife uv me second husband, an' two by the second wife uv me first."—Argonaut.

SUMMER HOTEL STUFF
"This room is small and seems poorly furnished—one chair and a folding bed."

"That, sir, is the telephone booth."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

R. C. NORTON BUYS THE CLARK HOME

A deal was closed yesterday by which R. C. Norton, Vice-President of the Commercial National Bank, purchased of E. B. Clark the Clark home at the corner of Eleventh Street and Euclid Avenue.

The home and grounds occupy a lot which is 75x150, and is one of the attractive residence places of the city.

Just when Mr. and Mrs. Norton and daughters will occupy the new home is not certain, but it will probably be just before the school year opens, as Mr. Norton is just completing his mountain home in San Antonio Canyon, and when it is finished he and the family want to live in it awhile, as well as enjoy a few days at the seashore.

The plans of Mr. and Mrs. Clark are not completed at this time, but they plan on residing here during the summer.

"BELINDA" THE LAST PLAY OF SEASON

The last play offered by the Community Players for this season bids fair to outlive any of their other productions, good as they have been. "Belinda," a three-act comedy by A. A. Milne, is a subtle and delightful play of English life, and was played in New York with huge success, Ethel Barrymore taking the leading role.

There are six characters in the cast, and rehearsals are progressing very favorably. Everyone is enthusiastic, and Miss Ruth Harrison, under whose direction the play is being produced, is delighted with the interest taken by those with whom she is working.

The cast is as follows:
Belinda.....Miss Hazel Whistler
Betty.....Mrs. May Berger
Della.....Miss Rowe Rader
Mr. Davenish.....Theron Gooden
Mr. Baxter.....Murray McNeil
Jack Tremaine.....Donovan Palmer
Others who are helping to make the play a success are Audrey Armstrong, stage manager; Kenneth I. Hanson, business and advertising manager; Myron Harris, scenery; Mrs. Everett H. Fuller, costumes; Miss Benita Spencer, prompter.

Special music will be furnished by the Community Orchestra, under the direction of Fred Wilding.

The Community Players hope to build in the not far distant future a community play house for these productions, which already rival the plays given by the Pasadena and Glendale Community Players. Great interest is taken in these plays, and with a theatre all their own available at any time, it is expected that productions will be given much of tenor than in the past.

RECEPTION TONIGHT FOR DR. R. C. STONE

Rev. R. C. Stone, who returned last Saturday from the east, where he has been attending a reunion and the 1923 graduation class of his old college, Parks College, at which his daughter, Miss Janet Stone, was one of the graduates, will be the guest of honor this evening at an entertainment arranged by the Session of the Presbyterian Church, to which all the clergy in the community and members and friends of the church are invited.

The principal reason is to congratulate the Rev. Stone on the degree recently conferred on him by Parks College of Doctor of Divinity, and which he received when he was in the east.

Miss Clara Bissell, director of the Girls' Work here, and C. W. Alford, head of the Boys' Work, will both be present, and all the different organizations of the church will be represented.

THE HORSE'S SPEED LIMIT

Before our agrarian population had taken so enthusiastically to the automobile, two farmers drove into town in an old spring wagon pulled by a very bony nag. The little burk had been incorporated, and among the evidences of this was a brand-new sign at the town line: "Speed limit, ten miles an hour." Observing this, the driver began whipping up his steed vigorously.

"What's yo' hurry?" demanded his companion in mild astonishment. "See that sign?" returned the other. "But I dunno if I can make it or not."—Everybody's Magazine.

COMMENCEMENT POMONA COLLEGE

The closing day of the Pomona College commencement season—The Commencement Day—opened yesterday morning with a recital by the Faculty of the Department of Music in Bridges Hall of Music. This was followed at noon by the Senior Class luncheon. At 4 p.m. President and Mrs. Blaisdell held their annual reception in the patio of Bridges Hall. The academic procession, including trustees, faculty and seniors, assembled at the patio of Bridges Hall at 6 p.m., marching from there to the open-air theater, where the graduating exercises occurred at 6:30 p.m. Music for this occasion was furnished by the Music Department of the College under the direction of Professor Ralph H. Lyman.

The commencement speakers representing the graduates were Wesley G. Leighton of Covina, Miss M. Louise Trull of Glendale, and Brainerd Dyer of Los Angeles.

There were 146 in the graduating class receiving the degree of B.A., and 14 graduate students on whom the degree of M.A. was conferred.

Pomona College has conferred very few honorary degrees in its history, believing that they should be granted only to those who by distinguished service in some particular field have earned the right to wear such honors worthily. One year ago the degree of LL.D. was conferred upon the distinguished Chinese scholar, Fong Foo Sec, a graduate of Pomona College. This year the same degree of LL.D. will be conferred upon the Rev. Gilbert N. Brink, D.D., a graduate of the class of 1898 and now the General Secretary of the American Baptist Publication Society, with headquarters in Philadelphia.

In connection with this commencement it is interesting to note that over against the 146 members of this year's graduating class, the first class graduated from the College in 1894 numbered only 11. It is also an interesting fact that included in this number is Honorable David P. Barrows, LL.D., who has just retired from the presidency of the University of California, and whom it is thought will be the next president of Chicago University. Another member of this class was George S. Sumner, Ph.D., who after 25 years on the faculty of the College, a year ago became the controller of the institution, having supervision of the business matters connected with it.

Including the class of this year the total number of alumni to date is 1487. The total number of ex-students is 3260, making a grand total of 4797 who have been enrolled in the College since it opened. The alumni are living in 38 states and 14 foreign countries. The present student body represents by birthplace 37 states and 14 foreign countries.

SECOND CONCERT THURSDAY NIGHT

Second concert of the 1923 summer series of band concerts is scheduled for Thursday night in Municipal Park.

The concert season thus far has everything desirable but weather, and as chilly winds continue to linger about, unusual crowds will probably not attend until the warmer weather.

The program for Thursday night's concert is as follows:

1. March, "U. S. Field Artillery" Sousa
2. Selection, "The Daughter of the Regiment" Donizette
3. Waltz, "Destiny" Baynes
4. Selection from "Robin Hood" R. de Koven

DEATH OF MRS. ATHERTON

Mrs. M. E. Atherton, mother of Mrs. Hugh E. McKinney and Miss Nellie Atherton of this city, died yesterday morning at the age of 68 years, at the home of Mrs. McKinney, 1446 East Ninth Street.

Mrs. Atherton had been ill for several months. Funeral arrangements, which are in charge of W. D. Richardson, of Ontario, will not be completed until word is received from the son, W. W. Atherton, of Kansas City.

THREE MEN KILLED BY FALLING GIRDER

Three members of a Santa Fe bridge crew lost their lives Sunday when the cable of a derrick on a wrecker lifting a huge steel bridge girder broke, near Klondike, 11 miles east of Ludlow.

The dead are:
Mike Michael, 50 years old, of 939 Spruce Street, San Bernardino.
Glen R. McConky, 3564 Hunter Street, Los Angeles.

Bruce Arlen, address unknown.
Michael and Arlen were instantly killed when they were caught beneath the girder, estimated to weigh 15 tons, as it fell. McConky was frightfully injured and died on the California Limited while en route to the hospital at Barstow.

Coroner Leaves For Scene

Report of the frightful accident was received here by J. W. Wood, foreman of the Santa Fe bridge and building department, and Coroner J. H. Hanna. The coroner left last night for the scene of the tragedy.

The crew, which was a local division outfit and loaned to the Arizona division for extensive work in connection with the new double track operations, was moving bridge girders from a structure on the old main line to the new line.

Workers Given No Warning
All three men were riding on the girder as the derrick lifted it. When the cable snapped they fell under the girder, the high steel beam crashing on top of them. Two of them were pinned beneath the girder. McConky was only partially caught, an dthl accounted for the fact that he was not instantly killed. It was necessary for the wrecker to lift the beam from the men.

The bridge crew was in charge of Foreman C. D. Shoupe of this city. The wrecking train was in charge of Conductor Priest and Engineer Barker.

Workmen stopped the California Limited, after emergency treatment had been given by a surgeon at Ludlow.
Michael was well known here, having for a number of years worked in the car department of the shops. A number of months ago he joined the bridge crew. He was about 50 years old and is survived by his wife and one child.

McConky was a member of Masonic Lodge No. 765, of Alpine, Texas. His mother, Mrs. Minnie McConky, resides at Laurel, Miss.

A Convention of Patriotism

THE city of Washington has just finished entertaining the annual convention of Shriners. In a peculiar sense the nation was the host, for Washington not only is governed and financed by Congress, but during the convention many agencies of the federal government actively participated to make it a success.

Furthermore, President Harding, himself a member of the Shrine at Columbus, Ohio, took an active part in all of the Shrine ceremonies, and, with Mrs. Harding, reviewed all parades. The White House was thrown open and was daily visited literally by thousands of Shriners in attendance at the convention. Scores of delegations paid formal calls upon the President and the ladies of the convention paid special tribute to the First Lady of the Land.

Postmaster General New, another noble, a member of the Murat Temple at Indianapolis, established a Shrine postoffice and rendered 100 per cent efficient postal accommodation to the hundreds of thousands of visitors during the week. Secretary of Labor Davis was a speaker at one of the Shrine meetings.

One of the chief features of entertainment were the exhibition drills and maneuvers of units furnished by the army and navy. The navy made additional contribution by giving exhibitions on the Potomac River while both army and navy fliers gave aerial circuses each day. The show places of the federal government, such as the Congressional Library, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, etc., made an especial effort to entertain the visitors.

But the outstanding feature of the convention was the patriotic fervor of the delegations of Shriners which was matched only by the enthusiasm with which the tens of thousands of spectators greeted such exhibition. Over 100 bands furnished music almost 24 hours a day. At a dozen different places in the city there was a band concert staged from morning till night, not to mention the impromptu concerts furnished in hotel lobbies and on street corners. Yet patriotic airs were always received with roars of applause and cheers from the crowds. Whenever the strains of the Star Spangled Banner were lifted above the blare of the street, it invariably brought hats off and hands to salute.

It was during the parade, however, that the hundreds of thousands who were in Washington furnished the most significant exhibition of their intense nationalism. Of course every delegation was headed by a color-bearer with the American flag and in many cases each unit of a delegation. Not a flag passed the reviewing stand that was not saluted by President Harding, Mrs. Harding and others in the stand. In this respect crowds were in one accord, for they, too, saluted the passing national colors.

But when the delegation from Chicago passed with several standards of the national colors and with their immense drum bearing the inscription

"One heart, one hand,
One flag, one land,
One country."

those in seats arose and joined with those standing in cheer after cheer.

The spirit of America pervaded and dominated the entire convention. There was no politics. There were no partisans. All were Americans. As Thomas Jefferson exclaimed in his first inaugural address, "Every difference in opinion is not a difference of principle. We have called by different names brethren of the same principles. We are all Republicans; we are all Federalists." And so in this convention the outstanding fact that although delegations were composed of Republicans and Democrats, radicals and conservatives, none of these distinctions were thought of because all were Americans with whom the institutions of our nation and the honor of Old Glory stood first.

Had the visiting thousands been asked to give utterance to the thought uppermost in their minds, they would no doubt have all subscribed to the sentiments expressed by Daniel Webster in his speech of dedication of the Bunker Hill Monument:

"Our principal business is improvement. Let our age be the age of improvement. In a day of peace let us advance the arts of peace and the works of peace. Let us develop the resources of our land, call forth its powers, build up its institutions, and promote its great interests. . . . Let our object be, our country, our whole country, and nothing but our country."

Making Preparations For Beauty

NOBODY can fail to notice how full the newspapers are lately of plans for the beauty of town and country. At times, it seems as if to make the world beautiful had become the world's chief concern. In England it is not enough that Lord Newton should have laid the billboard nuisance before Parliament, but the Royal Academy is urging the Government to form a commission of fine arts to take charge of urban and rural amenities. In America almost every town is considering its own amenities for itself—Washington laboring for the carrying out of the plans made for it 150 years ago; New York busy with even such details as news stands, designing new booths to surpass the Paris kiosques in decorative value; Philadelphia completing its Parkway with an art gallery for its Parthenon; and so the list might be gone through. Civic beauty has become an obsession, and nobody can regret it. The more it is talked about, the more chance there is of people waking up to the necessity of creating it. And the beautiful town will give the citizen greater self-confidence.

But in the zeal for the beauty that is to be, the tendency is to neglect the beauty that is. The newspapers are also full of the misdoings of vandals who despoil the trees of their branches in city parks and squares, pick the flowers ruthlessly, trample down the turf. In the country, fruit trees are robbed of their blossoms, hedges stripped, wild flowers in the fields exchanged for a crop of paper bags and tin cans. The authorities, who talk glibly of new schemes and plans, allow beautiful old houses to be destroyed, look on unmoved at the desecration of historic landmarks, countenance the spread of billboards, and never see the litter in the streets. A woman may clothe herself in velvet and satin, and yet she will not be well dressed if her sleeves are out at the elbows and her skirt frayed at the hem. And in like manner, a town may build palaces and towers, and yet not be beautiful if it covers their walls with advertisements and strews garbage at their doors.

To educate the public to an appreciation of beauty will need time. To chastise the public for its offenses against beauty might hasten matters. In certain parts of Germany, where cherry trees, by the wayside belong to the commune, a heavy fine is imposed on anyone caught stealing the cherries, and they are seldom stolen. A light fine might save American trees from the vandal and clear American streets of garbage; a light tax might lessen the number of billboards; and thus would the way be prepared for the beauty that surely must come out of the world's present concern with it.

FAMILIAR POEMS

WHO LOOKS TOO LONG

Who looks too long from his window
At the gray, wide, cold sea,
Where breakers scour the beaches
With fingers of sharp foam;
Who looks too long through the gray pane
At the mad, wild, bold sea,
Shall sell his hearth to a stranger
And turn his back on home.

Who looks too long from his window—
Though his wife waits by the fireside—
At a ship's wings in the offing,
Or the dawn light, or the moon light,
Who sees an anchor lifted
Though his cattle call from the byre-
side,
And kiss his wife—and leave her—
And wander everywhere.

Who looks too long in the twilight,
Or the dawn light, or the moon light,
Who sees an anchor lifted
And hungers past content, Shall pack his chest for the world's end,
For alien sun—or moonlight,
And follow the wind, satiate,
To disillusionment!

Other Poems."

BEES IN PEACH BLOSSOM

The buzzing of the drowsy bees
Doth now my springtime sense confuse.
Now am I lapped in summer. These Convene a garden Muse.

Once by a hedge of hollyhocks
She passed, twining her sleepy hair,
The lizards in the tufted rocks
Made sly green lightnings there.

The shades of cypresses were thrown Down the green mirrors of her lawns,
Her fountains rimmed by Parian stone.

Were crowned by bronzen fawns.
Bees were bells and bells were bees,
Each told the noon from his own towers
While this sweet lady snowed my knees
With petals of all flowers.

Not from one land only they came,
But from the summer of each land,
Flower of ice and flower of flame,
Rock, marsh, moorland, sand.

By hollyhocks and asphodels
She vowed she'd come again. Her yow
Was a pale noise of bees and bells—
I saw her not till now.

IN ALASKA

It's the great, big, broad land 'way up yonder,
It's the forests where silence has lease;
It's beauty that thrills me with wonder,
It's the stillness that fills me with peace.
—Robert W. Service.

Ice-built, ice-bored, and ice-bounded,
Such cold seas of silence! Such room!
Such snow light, such sea light confounded
With thunders that smite like a doom!
Such grandeur! such glory! such gloom!
Hear that boom! Hear that deep,
distant boom
Of an avalanche hurled
Down this unfinished world!

Ice seas! ice summits; ice spaces!
In splendor of white, as God's throne!
Ice worlds to the pole! and ice places
Untraveled, and unnamed, and unknown!
Hear that boom! Hear the grinding,
the groan,
Of the ice-gods in pain! Hear the moan
Of the ice mountain hurled
Down this unfinished world.
—Joaquin Miller.

ODDS and ENDS

WORSE TO COME

Having been served with a wedge of some yellow substance, the husband poked at it cautiously with his fork, and finally turned it over heavily on his plate, asking:

"What is this?"
"Pound cake. What of it?" the wife replied.
"Nothing," said the husband. "I thought my section weighed more than a pound. What are you going to make next?"
"Marble cake," said the wife defiantly. — Pittsburgh Chronicle-Tele-

HIS RELATIVITY THEORY

An old judge had grown tired of the petty interests and conventions of a small city. Desiring to live closer to nature, he had built his home on the outskirts of the town.
One day he met a number of the younger legal lights who were inclined to think the old judge rather eccentric, and he, in turn, did not agree with them as to their importance upon earth.
"But, judge," one of the leading lights said, "you live so far out."
"So far out? So far out?" the judge spouted. "So far from where, from whom, you? I am just as close to the sun, moon and stars as you are."—Judge.

THEIR HOPE

"What do you plan to make of your boy?"
"We are going to get him a place with the housing commission, as soon as he is old enough. Some day he may be able to find a house for his parents."—Die Muskete (Vienna).

Fashion's Latest Word in Appareling for Little Maids and Men is Simplicity—Every Small Garment Bears the Imprint of Youth and Gayety.

INTERESTING—quite out of proportion to their size—are the clothes of little Miss Two-to-Six and Little Brother, and with each succeeding year and season their styling, their fabrics and their trimmings show details radically new and pleasing to the eye. Separated as these garments are—by a matter of a score of years or so—from Mother's gowns, they are, nevertheless, subject to change with a regularity as persistent as grown-up modes, and it is a truth undeniable that little the latest styles in frocks, coats and hats, at an amazingly early age. And the influence of dress, becoming more decided every day, has its inception in the flower frocks of little girlhood and the smart little suits of early boyhood.

And variety must be had, as well as up-to-dateness, for rarely will the youngsters appear in the same garments forenoon and afternoon, and, too, there must be glad raiment for party wear, though evening apparel—except of a practical sort—is omitted from the list of what goes to make up the new spring wardrobe of Young America, both masculine and feminine.

Play Clothes Are Smartly Practical
One must look for more than a measure of practicality, when selecting the sturdy frocks and suits that are to bear the brunt of the small person's day, given up wholeheartedly to the business of living. Yet these garments need not be dull and ugly, rather they may be quite as smart, in their way, as party clothes; it is really a question of fabric as a foundation for a simple, easily laundered style that will give the utmost in service, while it does not offend the little one's sense of what is proper!

Materials include the staunch chambrays, poplins, ginghams, Devonshire cloth and linens, and colors range from the childish pinks, blues, greens and yellows—white is always "good"—though hardly practical—to the less easily soiled browns and blues and greens in the darker shades. Styles include straight little frocks and be-guiling bloomer models for the ladies; and smock suits, blouse and trouser suits, midly and romper suits for the young gentlemen. The former are dignified by such details as hand-smocking, buttons, collars and cuffs of a contrasting fabric and color, and droll little pots of flowers, quaint animals and other gay little embroidered motifs. The latter boast mannish butts and "regulation" neckerchiefs—when they're midly style—and such bits of sitchery as are not considered out of keeping with masculine dignity.

A comparatively new idea is the little "sister and brother" set, made of the same material and with the same trimming motif, applied differently. For instance, such a set might employ a blue and white striped material, the general idea being the bloomer dress for the girl and the smock suit for the boy. The little girl's collar might match that on the smock of the little boy, but it would boast a ribbon tie, while his smock would take the more tailored trimming of buttons. Applique or embroideries would trim such garments, but the feminine version would take flower or animal motifs, the masculine version a base ball and bat, or any one of the various things dear to a boyish heart. The little girl's suit would have bloomers, but trousers would be the choice of the boy.

Dress Up Apparel Differs Only in Detail
Practically the same general styles obtain, when it comes to the dressier garments for afternoon wear, and for party apparel. Fabrics are daintier and ornamentation more elaborate, but otherwise there is little change. We see feminine muslins, dimities, voiles and crepes—both silk and not-ton—and silks, velvets, and white and colored linens are the choice for the boy. But frocks continue straightline and bloomer style for afternoon, and the party frocks are daintily ruffled and hand made.

Hand embroideries and all kinds of fine hand work are in high favor, especially cross stitching, French knots, smocking and hemstitching. There are clever little touches of ribbon on many of the dress-up frocks, and medallions of frilled or shirred ribbons are popular. Button holing makes a most effective trimming, and hand made flowers—of chiffon or ribbon—set off the daintier party apparel. Some few little frocks have tiny skirts attached to a very long blouse—Russian fashion—and smocking and embroidery are the logical decorations of these models.

Original And Clever Little Models
There need be no similarity in the clothes that appear at the party, of an afternoon, for so original are the ideas of the many designers of the mode that wide variety results. While one wee Miss is at her best in a champagne colored voile, sleeveless and bright with crocheted motifs in gay colors, her rival for first honor in fashion may choose to trust her success to a bloomer frock of black taffeta, pointed as to its hem and sleeve edge, the points embroidered in white, that are positively barbaric in their coloring.

The demure little person may choose a frock of white voile, dotted in pink, with wee ruffles of lace for its trimming; the fluffy type may be ruffled from neck to hem, or gaily in a plain foundation; and the practical minded little party, who knows what games will do to a frock, may prefer the crisp daintiness of handkerchief linen, hand fastened, hem-stitched or smocked.

The place that handwork holds in the youthful mode is very apparent in the pictured models of frocks—both practical playtime and dress-up styles. The little aspirant to tennis honors of a dress, since she must have had usefulness in mind. It is a plainly styled model, but, like many that such a description will fit, it is smart, and the white of the cuffs, collar and hem is the other way round.

Simplicity Apparent Everywhere
Smocking again provides the trimming for an attractive little dress, but it enlists the aid of another material for cuff and collar treatment, and buttons and edging—one suspects it is taffeta—make the model a little less the tailored type. One question which is the more perfect—the flower or the frock? The yoke treatments are shown in the picture where Big Sister gives rapt attention to Small Brother, and the littler frock shows a clever use of two materials, the one a pin head check, smocked rather than shirred onto the yoke. A line of French knots carries out the color scheme and outlines the irregular line of the joining. Big Sister must have been on her way to a party, for her frock is crepe de chine with bright embroidery, the collar and cuffs outlined in chain stitchery in the same bright shade.

Outer Wraps Becoming And Attractive
Whatever the wind or weather,

OF FINE NAINSOOK FILED AT NECK AND SLEEVES

Miss Two-to-Six will adore playing in the open, if for no other reason than that it means she may wear her new spring coat or cape—an attractive little garment of covert, homespun, tweed, novelty cloth or one of the many soft-surfaced fabrics. And Master Two-to-Six will be brave in his man-tailored coat of tweed or some fabric of masculine appearance. Nothing is more practical for hard wear than tweed, and experience has proven that when it was originally of a light color, it could be dyed a deeper shade and give great satisfaction.

Some of the models in little girl's coats are straight of line and unbelted, but many are smartened with belts, patch pockets and buttons, ton high to the throat, so that when a stray breeze comes along they may be closed, protectively. Various stitchings—cable the most popular, trim them, as do appliqued and embroidered motifs in a contrasting color or shade. If one is only two, one may wear a serviceable coat of wide wale corduroy, and it may even be white since it launders beautifully. But for dress up, she will wear a dainty affair of crepe de chine or faille silk, hand-embroidered or hand-smocked to add to its luxury. "His" coat will be a small replica of "Dad's"—double breasted, with deep patch pockets and a strapped down belt, in the most approved sports manner. Who will doubt the existence of a definite mode for little folks? Surely it is quite impossible to even question it, when entire shops cater to the whims of the youthful mind, the while they are not forgetful of Mother's sure demand that clothes be sensible as well as beautiful.

The Picturesque Charm of a SHADED LAMP

SOMETHING of a philosopher—and a wise one, at that—the writer who gave for a definition of "comfort" the intriguing "A glowing fire, a good cigar, a book, a nook, an easy chair." But the writer was masculine—that is a foregone conclusion—since a cigar was included in the picture, and a lamp was not; for every woman knows that no cozy, comfortable corner is complete without a softly shaded lamp. Indeed, it is the center of attraction in any grouping, and its color, its design and its general effect is as carefully studied, in its relation to the furnishings of the room, as hangings or the coverings for the floor. Through various stages of progress lamps have come to be things of exquisite beauty, many of them copies or adaptations of antiques of rare charm and value. Wherever there are furniture displays—calculated to intrigue possible customers—there lamps are to be found, playing their enticing part in the furnishings of every room in the house.

Roughly speaking, lamps divide themselves into three classes—floor, table and bedroom or boudoir styles—and there are various divisions and sub-divisions of the three. Floor lamps are equally divided, in their service, between beauty and usefulness, though the so-called "bridge lamp" may be said to incline rather more to practical service than the usual floor lamp. Chosen with an eye, not alone to its harmony with its surroundings when unlighted, care should be exercised in making sure that it does not become a jarring note, when lighted, for many times a brilliant light back of silk and chiffon changes the general effect, most amazingly.

The usual floor lamp has a decorative standard of wood, Polychrome or wrought iron, the choice being a matter of taste combined with a sure idea of the position the lamp is to occupy. Dignified bases of mahogany and walnut are frequently fluted, in their carving, and stately in their effect. More decorative columns show antique gold and color, studded with gold, or gold with a wood finish—walnut or mahogany. Silver is seen in combination with wood or color, but is hardly as effective as gold or bronze. In the choice of shades, one is practically unlimited, so many beautiful combinations of colors and materials are shown. Parchment has its admirers, especially among those who plan to read in the light of such a shade, for it casts no annoying shadows on book or paper, and parchment is lovely in itself, more decorative in a way than either silk or chiffon. Striking colors and designs are used on this type of shade, many clever combinations of blue, mulberry, gold, rose, navy and black appearing on the receptive parchment background.

Vase Lamps in Both Table and Boudoir Styles That Represent The Finest In Beauty and Craftsmanship played, and gold fringes and braids strike a note of contrast. Shapes vary—Empire, oval, dome, or hexagonal—and frequently the "pulls" are heavy cords and tassels in the color of the shade or its trimmings. The bridge lamp is a thing of convenience, light of weight—so that it may be moved with ease from place to place—adjustable, both as to height and the tilt of the shade, and altogether a most desirable possession. It varies quite as widely in its material and workmanship as the regular floor lamp.

There is a distinct tendency in table lamps to the pottery base—and it's a beautiful and graceful style, capable of many delightful combinations of color and great variety of design. Just at present, far more of these bases are being shown than there are metal bases, though there is a satisfying choice to be had in the latter. One thing may be said in favor of the metal base, there is less danger of breakage, and when the shade is paneled—with frame of metal and insets of art glass, such a lamp may be a rarely lovely thing.

Grace is the outstanding characteristic of the pottery and porcelain lamp bases, and there is rare artistry in their shaping. The shades are designed to harmonize, both in line and color, and very frequently the finished lamp is quite as lovely as a picture. The few may be typical of the many—so—a vase of genuine Chinese pottery would take a shade of black and gold brocade, with heavy gold fringes; a slender base, with design that resembles nothing as much as old brocade, has a shade of matching brocade—one wonders if the base were designed to match the shade, or the shade to match the base, or chance happened to bring them together! A base of blue or mirror black porcelain may take a brocade shade or one of silk, but the chances are that whatever it takes, there will be fringes and braid—in gold or bronze, as the pottery base is mounted on a gold or bronze finished base.

The pictured lamps are typical of the wide choice that one has in her lighting conveniences. The floor lamp of mahogany—it might as well be of walnut—is beautifully carved as to base, and fringed and ruched as to shade. The lamp with the wrought iron standard has a parchment shade, gayly decorated—parchment fits into the wrought iron scheme better than silk and brocade. And apropos of nothing—unless its spring—we have the flower stand of wrought iron, its tulips suggestive, perhaps, of the colors in the parchment shade.

Four lamps—alike only in respect to the material of their bases and shades—give a hint of the variety in table and boudoir lamps. The first is of mirror lacquer, and the silk shade has deep fringe and a trimming of rolled velvet for decoration. The other table lamp is Oriental as to base—its cherry blossoms typical of the Land of the Rising Sun. Its shade is a bit unusual, for it departs from the usual fashion and has simulated drapes of the pleated material, edged with braid, the points ending in a braided ornament. The top is finished with a ruching of the material, and altogether it is an unusually lovely and effective lamp.

The smaller lamps are typical of the bedroom or boudoir lamp, usually occupying a place of prominence on night stand or dressing table. Truly indicative of what designers have done to make beautiful our incidental bits of interior illumination, such lamps may not only be lovely in themselves, but they have an added object in that they display the attractions of the room they ornament, and throw their softened, colorful light into its dusky corners.

Two Satisfactory Types Of The Necessary Floor Lamp And A Flower Stand Of Charm and Utility

DID YOU KNOW —

WHAT fashion in handwear has changed to short gloves of lace heels, and are strapped, after the fashion of three thousand years ago?

THAT sports fashions include the Deauville stocking, in colorings bold, yet harmonious? The combination is particularly effective when worn with an all-white costume.

THAT the newest beads and earrings, designed for wear with the new printed silks, are made of carnelian, lapis lazuli, red jade and cloudy amber?

THAT the wrist bracelet of colored ribbon with black edge has replaced the leather strap for carrying the handkerchief? And the kerchief itself is printed in Egyptian design and coloring?

JOHNSON—FURBISH WEDDING—

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Furbish, on Campus Avenue, was the scene of a pretty wedding last Saturday evening, when their daughter, Alta, became the bride of Clarence Johnson, of Ontario, formerly of Charles City, Iowa.

The bride wore a charming gown of white crepe embroidered with pearl beads, and carried a shower bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses and fern. She was attended by Miss Mary Pittenger of Ontario, who wore a green organdie frock. Her bouquet was of Shasta Daisies, Ralph Bissonnett, of Ontario, acted as best man, and the Rev. Charles A. Kent, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated.

The house was decorated in green and white, Shasta Daisies and Asparagus Fern being used with artistic effect.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson received many beautiful gifts and were heartily wished every happiness by the fifty relatives and friends who were invited to witness the pretty ceremony.

Following the wedding supper, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a short honeymoon and on their return will make their home in West H Street, Ontario, the groom's business being in that city.

FEDERATION EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS TODAY—

The San Bernardino County Federation of Women's Clubs is holding its first executive board meeting since the election of the new president, Mrs. Denver Chaffee, of Bloomington, at the Bloomington school house today. The new president expressed a strong wish that every newly-elected president in the county would be present at this meeting as plans for next year's program would be discussed.

Those going from Upland were: Mrs. E. E. Hawthorne, outgoing president of the Upland Woman's Club; Mrs. William Tuttle, president for the coming year of the same organization; Mrs. George Winter, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club, and Mrs. Miles Hamly.

SAN ANTONIO LIBRARY CLUB MEETS SATURDAY—

The annual meeting of the San Antonio Library Club will be held at the County of Los Angeles County Free Library at Claremont, on Saturday, June 23rd. The meeting will begin at 9:30 and everyone interested in library work is cordially invited to attend. A box luncheon will be enjoyed at noon.

MISS MARION MAURER MARRIED TODAY—

The wedding of Miss Marion Frances Maurer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Maurer, of El Centro, and Frederic Boyd Northrup, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Northrup, of Long Beach, took place this afternoon in Bridges Hall, Claremont, Dr. S. Brooks, of the Pomona College faculty, officiating.

The bride wore a white canton crepe trimmed with Spanish lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of exquisite blossoms. Miss Marion Cornelius, of Ontario, was maid of honor, and Miss Alice and Miss Helen Northrup, sisters of the groom, were bridesmaids, all gowned in pretty frocks of pastel hues. Little Miss Peggy Grahame, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Grahame, acted as flower girl, and carried a dainty French bouquet.

Maurice Pendleton, of Los Angeles, a college chum of the groom's, was best man.

Prof. S. Earle Blakeslee, of Chaffey musical faculty, played Mendelssohn's Wedding March and several other numbers during the ceremony, and Miss Geneva Moreman sang.

The wedding was witnessed by one hundred and thirty-five people, relatives and intimate friends of the two families, and later a reception was held when Mrs. Reid B. Bordwell and Mrs. J. L. Grahame, aunts of the bride, presided over the coffee and delicious refreshments were served to the guests.

Miss Maurer is very well known here, having lived in Upland nearly all her life. She attended grammar school and Chaffey Union High School, going from there to Pomona College. She is a granddaughter of John Gerry, pioneer resident of this city, and a niece of Mesdames Blohm, Moore, Grahame and Bordwell. She carries with her the many good wishes of her friends, who are pleased to learn that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Northrup will be in Claremont.

DAVIS—LONG WEDDING—

The wedding of Miss Marjorie Long and Owen Davis was celebrated on Saturday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Florence Stamm, on Third Avenue, when a very pretty ceremony was witnessed by forty guests.

The Rev. C. A. Kent was the officiating clergyman, and the wedding took place on the lawn, which was made very attractive with screens decorated with roses and greenery, and lights shining through the trees. The young couple stood under a huge wedding bell to exchange their vows.

The bride wore a dainty oyster white canton crepe frock and her bridal bouquet was of lilies of the valley. She wore a wreath of orange blossoms, and was attended by Mrs. Hubert L. Manker as matron of honor, who was gowned in a voile frock of orchid shade, and by little Mildred Nicholson, who acted as flower girl. Hubert L. Manker was best man to the groom.

Several beautiful selections on the violin were played during the ceremony by Harry Alter.

Following the service a wedding supper was served, and immediately afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Davis left for their honeymoon.

Mrs. Davis has been on the force of the Euclid and Commercial Savings Bank in Ontario for several years, and Mr. Davis is connected with Wolfe & Couch of the Chevrolet Agency. On their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Davis will make their home in Upland, where they are well known and have a host of friends to greet them.

IN HONOR OF MISS FRANCISCO—

Mrs. Mark Bailey entertained a group of girls last Saturday evening in honor of Miss Fae Francisco, daughter of Councilman and Mrs. Chad K. Francisco, whose marriage to Basil Aldine Harkins of Los Angeles takes place on June 28th.

Lovely baskets of Shasta Daisies and ferns made the living rooms very attractive, and in the dining room under a canopy of orchid and tulip ribbon stood a miniature bride and groom in a field of daisies.

The evening passed in a merry fashion, the girls all hemming towels for the bride-elect, who also received a shower of beautiful gifts for her new home.

Mrs. Bailey served dainty refreshments to her guests at a late hour. Those invited to meet Miss Francisco were Mrs. Charles Ammerman of Riverside, Mrs. Paul Petrov, Mrs. M. P. Bell, Mrs. C. K. Francisco, Mrs. C. O. Deverts, Miss Vevie Bell, Miss Vera Ford, Miss Elizabeth Harris, Miss Arvilla Leaman, Miss Esther Leaman, Miss Edith McCorkindale, Miss Margaret Harris, Miss Lorraine Maxwell, Miss Elizabeth Reynolds, Miss Bessie McCorkindale.

LA ESTRELLA PICNIC AT FAIRMONT PARK—

Members of La Estrella Auxiliary to the Order of the Eastern Star enjoyed a delightful day yesterday when, accompanied by several guests, they motored to Fairmont Park, Riverside, and spent the day in a pleasant manner.

A short business meeting was held, and the rest of the time passed in enjoying a bountiful dinner and in the various amusements afforded by the park facilities.

Visitors present were: Mrs. H. S. Clark, of Okamulgee, Okla.; Mrs. E. L. Knick, Taft; Mrs. Came, China; Miss May Underhill, Percy, Ill., and members in attendance were Mrs. W. E. Avery, Mrs. F. B. Harn, Mrs. H. C. Kennedy, Mrs. Jennie Brown, Mrs. George E. Bunker, Mrs. L. M. Clark, Mrs. C. H. Wimpless, Mrs. E. R. Son, Mrs. Isabelle Foster, Mrs. C. O. Deverts, Mrs. Clara Crew, Mrs. Mary Eckerman, Mrs. Etta Johnston, Mrs. Alma Henry, Mrs. R. C. Norton, Mrs. E. L. Mathews, Mrs. P. J. Potts, Mrs. R. R. Wisely, Mrs. A. N. Monroe, Mrs. T. H. Chastain, Mrs. C. E. Fossett, Mrs. A. M. Wisely, Mrs. E. E. Hawthorne.

Those in charge of the tables were Mrs. W. S. Avery, Mrs. C. O. Deverts, Mrs. L. R. Parkin, Mrs. F. B. Harn, Mrs. L. M. Clark, while Mrs. Elmer L. Mathews was chairman of the transportation committee, assisted by Mrs. C. H. Wimpless and Mrs. Clara Crew.

OSTEOPATHS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

The twenty-second annual convention of the California Osteopathic Association has just closed after being in session for three days at the Hotel Virginia, Long Beach, with more than 250 Osteopathic physicians and surgeons in attendance.

Election of officers for the next year resulted as follows: President, Dr. Ernest G. Bashor; Vice-President, Dr. Inez Smith; Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. C. B. Rowlingston. Dr. J. S. White, of Pasadena, was chosen association's delegate to the annual convention of the American Osteopathic Association, to be held in New York City in July. Dr. L. Van Horn Gerdine was formally inaugurated as president of the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, located in Los Angeles.

The outstanding feature of the convention was the association's denunciation of the Dr. Abrams' electronic reaction theory. The osteopaths went on record as considering that the use of this treatment would bring the association into disrepute.

NEW SANTA FE TREASURER NAMED

Clarence W. Jones, for the past 35 years in the service of the Santa Fe Railroad, has been named by the Board of Directors at a meeting held in New York City as Assistant Treasurer and Secretary of the Coast and Grand Canyon lines, to succeed Godfred Holterhoff, Jr., who died here May 15th last.

Jones for several years has been holding the position of Deputy Assistant Treasurer. That position will be filled by A. O. Appel, at present cashier of the lines.

The new assistant treasurer was born in New Mexico and entered the service with the treasury department at Albuquerque while still a young man. He won frequent promotion and in 1897 came to Los Angeles and took up the duties as paymaster. He then in turn was named cashier, and seven years ago became Mr. Holterhoff's chief assistant in the treasurer's office.

DEATH OF MRS. KATHERINE MILLER OF KATHIERNE

Mrs. Katherine Miller, wife of Chase Miller, died at her home, 208 East F Street, Ontario, late last night, at the age of 56, after a long illness of several months.

Beside her husband she leaves one son, Charles, of Los Angeles, and a daughter, Margaret, who was one of the class graduating today from the Academy of Holy Names in Pomona.

Tomorrow evening (Wednesday) at eight o'clock, women of the guild of St. George's Roman Catholic Church are asked to meet at Draper's Funeral Chapel in Ontario, when the rosary will be said for Mrs. Miller, who was an active member of the Guild.

On Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, service will be held in St. George's Church, Ontario, by the Rev. James Morris, assisted by the Rev. Father Mathews. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Los Angeles.

BULLETIN ISSUED BY AUTOMOBILE CLUB OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Trout, Bass and Ocean Fishing in Southern California

LOS ANGELES COUNTY—TROUT San Gabriel River—Fishing continues good in the upper reaches of this stream. Water is low and clear. Best results past week were had above Camp Bonita, about seven miles.

Good fishing was also had above Camp Rincon as far as Camp West Fork. It is possible to drive an automobile nine miles up the canyon from Arroyo. A good camp site will be found at Berry Flat Camp Ground.

Big Rock Creek—This stream is about fished out. Very poor results have been had in this stream the past week.

OCEAN FISHING Trilling, surf and pier fishing has been good the past week. At Santa Monica a great many barracuda and halibut have been caught. Several large black sea bass (dew fish) weighing over 250 lbs. each have been landed.

Trilling boats leave the Santa Monica pier at 8 a. m. each day. Avalon—Catalina Island. Fishing is picking up, several tuna were caught the past week. Rock bass, barracuda, albacore and yellow-tail have been caught from the trilling boats.

A fishing barge is now anchored off Whites Landing where good bass and other fishing may be had. Boats make regular trips from Avalon to the barge several times each day.

Corbina, yellowfin, and surf perch have been biting good the past week from Del Rey to Las Flores Canyon. The trilling boats have had good luck with barracuda, mackerel and albacore.

Redondo, Hermosa and Manhattan piers have had good fishing the past week. Yellowfin, croakers, halibut, smelt and perch are being caught.

Trilling off Point Vincent very good past week. Barracuda, mackerel and rock bass being taken. San Pedro—Fishing from breakwater good past week. Rock bass, sheephead and perch plentiful. Row boats may be secured at foot of breakwater for fishing along help beds off Point Fermin for rock bass, barracuda and king fish.

Trilling outside the breakwater from Point Fermin to Point Vincent good past week. Barracuda, mackerel, albacore and rock bass being caught.

Long Beach—Fishing from the barge anchored two miles off the pier has been good past week. Trilling boats out of the Long Beach report good catches. Good surf fishing may be had from Long Beach to Huntington Beach.

ORANGE COUNTY Trout fishing is about over in this county. Trabuco, Santiago and San Juan Creeks are low and about fished out.

OCEAN FISHING Yellowfin, rock bass, halibut, croakers, and barracuda are being caught at Balboa. Fishing here has been good off the pier and in the bay. Trilling boats have had good luck with barracuda.

Huntington Beach—Fair fishing from the pier the past week. Corbina, barracuda, perch, smelt, halibut and herring being caught. Good surf fishing may be had all along the coast from Huntington Beach to Balboa. Crabs, mussels and clams best bait.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY A new ordinance will cut fishing and hunting permits at San Diego Municipal Reservoirs. The new rates are expected to be as follows:

The fee for a hunting permit shall be $1.50 for each calendar day or fraction thereof. The rental for boats shall be 50 cents for each half day, or if used for a shorter period, the rental shall be 25 cents per hour per boat.

No fee for camp space will be charged for hunters or fishermen holding permits. The fee for camping shall be 50 cents per camp for each 24 hours or fraction thereof.

The rental of a room of a dormitory, including two cots and mattresses, for 24 hours from 12 noon to the following noon, or fraction of such time shall be $1.50. No charge shall be made for picnic parties at any of the reservoirs.

FRESH WATER FISHING Cuyamaca Lake and Barrett Reservoir very good. Boulder and Cedar Creeks fair.

Black bass fishing at Moreno Reservoir has been very good the past week and at Murray and Sweetwater has been poor.

Perch are biting fine at Hodges and Lower Otay dams. OCEAN FISHING Surf fishing—Corbina fishing has been good along the entire coast.

Pier fishing—good at Biological Pier, Oceanside, Imperial Beach, Ocean Beach, Bass, Jew fish, yellow-tail, barracuda, Spanish mackerel, smelt and halibut are being caught.

Trilling along the help beds from Point Loma to Point San Juan excellent. Barracuda, yellow-tail, rock bass and albacore are being taken.

Trilling boats and rowboats available at Coronado Boat House, La Jolla, Star & Crescent Boat Company, San Diego, and at Oceanside.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY Trout fishing has not been exceptionally good in this county so far this season. Fair fishing has been had in Hemet Lake, north and south fork of the San Jacinto Canyon, Strawberry Creek, Hurkey Creek, Snow Creek, Fuller Creek. Fishing should be good in these streams during the next two weeks.

Good camp grounds may be found at Idyllwild, Fern Valley, Keen Camp, Pine Flats and Fuller Mill Creek.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY Lake Arrowhead continues to furnish good fishing. Several good catches were made with flies here the past week. Spinners baited with angle worms and for still fishing salmon eggs are generally used with good results.

Deep Creek is improving as the water goes down. Flies and salmon eggs used to best advantage.

Mill Creek, City Creek, Bear Creek and Upper Santa Ana have been fair the past week. Camp grounds may be found at the city of San Bernardino, Cajon, Strawberry Flats, Blue Jay, Arrowhead Woods, Grout Bay, Fawnskin, Waterman Canyon, Mill Creek and Forest Home.

Good fishing was had in Big Bear Lake the past week. Spinners baited with angle worms best here.

Rainbow Angling Club located seven miles above Redlands on the Mill Creek Road has had excellent stream fishing the past month. Many large trout have been taken. This is a private club. For further information regarding this address: Leigh G. Garnsey, Redland, California.

Casca Reservoir located seven miles south of Redlands in San Timoteo Canyon has furnished good bass fishing the past week. A fee of $1.00 is charged for fishing here. Secure permit at El Casco Ranch House before fishing.

VENTURA COUNTY Trout fishing in this county is still good on the upper reaches of the streams. The Matilija Creek is good about six miles above Matilija Hot Springs. The Upper Sespe near Lathrop's Camp has been very good ever since the opening of the season. The Upper Piru Creek and Agua Blanca has been good the past two weeks.

Surf fishing is good from Point Magu to Ventura. Surf perch and corbina being caught. Pier fishing at Hueneme fair past week.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY Trout fishing in this county is about over for this season.

Sisquoc and Manzana are low and pretty well fished out in the lower reaches, but those going well up either of these streams may get good fishing. The water, however, is warm and the fish from now on will be soft and it will be hard to pack them out. The water in the Santa Ynez is also warm and fish are in poor condition.

Pier fishing has been good the past week at Santa Barbara. Trilling at Santa Barbara and along the help beds, fine past week. Barracuda being taken in great numbers. Trilling also reported good at Santa Cruz and Anacapa Islands.

SAN LUIS OBISPO COUNTY Trout fishing has been good in all coast streams north of Morro. Surf fishing has been good all along the coast.

Fair pier fishing may be had at Avila and Morro.

Abalones may be gathered along the coast between Cambria and San Simeon. Pismo clams, season closed during June, July and August.

Boats may be rented at Morro Bay and Avila.

KEERN COUNTY Kern River—Water down and clear. Fishing improved very much in past week. Good at Fairview also at Derwood Camp 16 miles above the dam.

TULARE COUNTY Fair trout fishing was had the past week in North Fork Kaweah River, below park entrance. Also Middle Fork near Oak Grove and Marble Fork in the Sequoia National Park.

Water in all these streams clear but high. Will be better fishing last of June and first part of July. Camps all open in Sequoia and Grant National Parks. Huntington Lake fishing only fair past week, but with warm weather will be good. Huntington Lake Lodge as well as other resorts are now open.

Good fishing may be had in Big Creek at Cascade. Many limits were taken the past week.

Good bass fishing reported from Bass Lake. Wawona—Fishing past week has been good in the Merced Rivers and smaller streams around Wawona.

Yosemite—Experienced fishermen caught fish in the valley the past week. Flies may be used with good results from 5 p. m. until dark.

OWENS VALLEY COUNTY South Lake, North Lake and Bishop Creek, fair past week. The water is clearing up and with warm weather should be good.

Convict Lake good past week. Many limits taken. Four blade spinners, baited with angle worms, best lure. Hot Creek, Convict Creek, McGee Creek and Owens River clear and trout taking fly. Good fishing reported.

Good fishing reported in Silver Lake, Grants Lake and Rush Creek.

"TRIFLING WOMEN" AT THE COLONIAL

Rex Ingram's claim to film immortality is justified again in his remarkable new production, "Trifling Women," which is shown tonight, Wednesday and Thursday at the Colonial Theatre. It is the latest achievement of the skillful director, whose name has become synonymous with the best in filmdom, and a guarantee of exceptional screen merit. It equals and, in some particulars, surpasses his earlier efforts, and should win a high place among the best of the season's photoplays.

The brilliant director of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," "The Prisoner of Zenda," and other big Metro pictures, is himself both author and adaptor of his latest success. This fact makes his triumph all the more complete, for the story and continuity are on a par with the production itself. In all, it is a distinctly worthwhile photodrama, and it is recommended to those who want the best in the motion picture fare.

The story is concerned with the fascination of Zareda, a crystal gazer, whose siren-like fascination attracts men into her net. How she attains wealth and power through a marriage with a wealthy Marquis; how she arranges his death to marry her young lover, Ivan; how she meets a terrible end with her lover when her husband finds them together, makes a graphic and dramatic story.

CHANGE PAVING DISTRICT
With a view to distributing the cost of paving Vine Avenue between State and Fourth Streets over a larger territory, the city council last night reconsidered its resolution adopted at a former meeting fixing the assessment district to include only that territory lying within 145 feet of the street on either side and in its place adopted the following assessment district:

Starting at a point in the center line of State Street, thence to a point 145 feet east of Vine Avenue, thence north to a point between G and H streets, thence east to a point half way between Vine and Euclid avenues, thence north to a point half between Fourth and Fifth streets, thence west to San Antonio Avenue, thence south to State Street and east to point of beginning. It was explained that the assessments on A street lots and other property which has already paid for street improvement work be made very nominal.

Upon recommendation of Councilman Charles Latimer, chairman of the lighting committee, street lights were ordered installed on California street at Vine Avenue and at Oakland Avenue, on D street at the east city limits, and on Tenth street at Laurel Avenue and at a point midway between Laurel and San Antonio avenues.

The matter of ordering in sidewalks between Fourth street and the north city limits on the west side of Euclid Avenue, where not already in, was discussed and preliminary steps were taken looking to the installation of sewer systems in the College Park tract and the new Rosewood Court sub-division near Euclid Avenue and Fourth street.

ROW IN HOTEL LOBBY
As a result of the attempts of Mrs. G. B. Faragher, proprietor of an A Street hotel, to eject a couple from the hotel, the act causing, it is said, a near riot in the lobby of the house, a fist encounter and a hair-pulling match, one man is at liberty on $5000 bail following his arrest on charge of disturbing the peace and another man and a woman were being sought by Ontario officers today on a similar charge.

According to the story of Mrs. Faragher, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McSine, guests at the hotel, became so boisterous about the lobby and created such a disturbance generally that she demanded that they give up their room. When they refused to comply, the proprietress said that she called upon Stuart Payne, of the National Hotel Brokers' Association, Los Angeles, also a guest in the house, to assist her.

The asserted near riot followed harsh words that are said to have led to harsher blows and as a result, Mrs. McSine swore to a complaint before Judge George R. Crane, acting in the place of Judge George R. Holbrook, charging Payne with disturbing the peace. Payne pleaded not guilty when brought into court. His bail was fixed at $500 and in the absence of A. D. Mitchell, his attorney, the case was continued.

Following the arrest of Payne, Mrs. Faragher appeared in the police court and swore to a complaint charging the McSines with a similar offense. When the officers went to arrest them, however, they had departed bag and baggage and indications were that the charge against Payne would not be pushed.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY
In honor of the fifteenth or crystal wedding anniversary of the Rev. W. Earle Smith, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Mrs. Smith, a merry group of their friends took them completely by surprise Saturday evening when they assembled at the Smith home in West Tenth Street to help them celebrate the happy occasion. The guests came armed with delicious refreshments and presented their pastor and his wife with a handsome cut glass vase in token of the esteem in which they are held. Happy informality marked the evening and a radio concert was enjoyed.

Making up the surprise party were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Dacus, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton K. Close, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson, and Mrs. A. W. Black, Miss Rose Wershing and the Misses Elizabeth and Edna May Dacus, Ella Black and Blenda Nelson.

SPORTS SUPPER DANCE
One of the smart affairs of the waning sports season was the sports supper dance with which Mr. and Mrs. Welles Thompson Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Baugh Fowler entertained last evening at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Isbell Ross, 715 North Euclid Avenue.

Brilliant hued gladioli in various shades added to the attractiveness of the room and the spacious porch set with many easy chairs proved popular gathering places between dances. Simpson's orchestra furnished excellent music and a delicious supper was served toward the evening's close. About 75 enjoyed the affair.

A Summer Ironing Hint

It's important to have the ironing board covers absolutely clean when dainty summer dresses are to be ironed. An easy way to accomplish this is to make several covers of unbleached muslin, arrange tapes along the side in such a way that the cover can be tied securely around the board. In this way it's the work of a minute to change covers.

TRAFFIC OFFICER TANGLE NEAR END

Bills now before Governor Richardson for signature are expected to clear the tangle over the appointment of traffic officers by counties of the state. At the present time the traffic squad here is being paid out of the special fund for the detection of crime by District Attorney George H. Johnston, and the motorcycle officers are also handling other assignments from the district attorney's office.

Statement of the legal situation was received yesterday by Jay Boone, chief of the squad, from the Auto Club of Southern California, and follows:

"County traffic officers and boards of supervisors have been somewhat concerned over the recent Supreme Court decision in Lovan vs. Shields, 65 Cal. Dec. 291, rendered on March 21, 1923. In this case the Supreme Court held that county boards of supervisors had no authority under the constitution to employ traffic officers. The constitution declares that the legislature itself shall provide for the election or appointment of all county officers, and boards of supervisors in those counties where there is no county charter cannot create county officers.

Will Provide For Officers
"During the recent session of the legislature, Assembly Bills No. 1313 and No. 1314 were introduced, providing for the position of traffic officer in each county and prescribing the powers and duties of such officers. These bills passed the legislature and are now before Governor Richardson.

"While the new motor vehicle act was under consideration in the senate, the senate motor vehicle committee thought that it would be desirable to make additional alternate provision for the employment of traffic officers in the several counties. With this object in mind, section 30 of the Motor Vehicle Act was incorporated, which provides that the chief of the division of motor vehicles may appoint a sufficient number of state inspectors and traffic officers in each of the counties of the state to meet the requirements in each county. The salaries of such officers as may be appointed in each county would be paid out of that portion of the motor vehicle fund which would otherwise go to the particular county. It was further provided that the board of supervisors in each county might submit a list of names from which the chief of the division might appoint the traffic officers to serve in that county. The section as drawn is permissive, enabling the chief of

REDONDO BEACH AN IDEAL SUMMER RESORT

Situated on the northerly slopes of beautiful Palos Verdes Hills, on a crescent-shaped bay, lies the popular city of Redondo Beach. Redondo Beach has been endowed by nature with a cool and equable climate, making it one of the most pleasant seaside resorts at which to spend a summer vacation.

Bathing features are worthy of special mention, inasmuch as Redondo Beach possesses the largest warm salt water plunge in the world, containing three pools of pure, sparkling, filtered sea water, ranging in depth from two to eight feet, and in temperature from 79 to 90 degrees, the water constantly changing at the rate of 60,000 gallons per the division on request and on agreement with the board of supervisors, to appoint traffic officers.

"At the time the above provisions were inserted in the Motor Vehicle Act, it was not certain that the legislature would adopt the assembly bills referred to, creating the office of traffic officer in each county. Furthermore, the legal point had been raised that even though said assembly bills were adopted they might not become effective for some time. In the event that said assembly bills creating the office of traffic officer in each county are approved by the Governor and become effective, each county will be provided with a traffic officer. It would then become necessary to resort to the provisions of section 30 of the Motor Vehicle Act, providing for the appointment of traffic officers in each county by the chief of the division of motor vehicles. On the other hand, in the event that the said assembly bills are not approved or do not become immediately effective, then section 30 of the Motor Vehicle Act provides the only means for the appointment of traffic officers. The legislature realized the difficulties of the counties following the Supreme Court decision and endeavored in every way possible to make adequate provision whereby the counties would be able to secure the services of such officers. The situation was fraught with legal difficulties, and it was for that reason that the additional and alternate provision was made in the Motor Vehicle Act which would at any rate serve as a temporary method whereby traffic officers might be appointed in each county."

hour. Then again, surf bathing is popular, as children may gambol in the surf in perfect safety—due to lack of undertow and rip tide.

To the fisherman the name of Redondo Beach is synonymous. The old-timer, who never lets a season go by without a series of fishing expeditions to Redondo Beach, avers that to know what real sport means one must, each season, have a few of the "big ones" to his credit caught from the piers of Redondo Beach.

Just as there are those who prefer to hunt the piers, there are those who track the wily denizens of the deep to their very lair by venturing out in power boats which leave the municipal pier at regular intervals daily for the fishing grounds.

The dance pavilion, which has the only beechwood dance floor in California, is even more popular than ever. A ten-piece stringed orchestra furnishes dance music and all devotees of the light fantastic have an opportunity of dancing to the strains of the latest popular airs.

There are innumerable amusement concessions along the water front, which include the thrilling Lightning Racer, the Dodge 'Em, Merry-go-round, Derby Racer and high class picture houses.

The famous Redondo Beach band gives free concerts daily (Mondays excepted), in the music plaza, and soloists and vaudeville are featured on Sundays, holidays and special occasions.

The kiddies are specially catered to every Thursday during the season. Free vaudeville in the music plaza and dancing in the pavilion being put on for the edification and enjoyment of the boys and girls. Free souvenirs are distributed to all.

For picnickers there is no better place than Redondo Beach. Free tables and seats are provided in an ideal location, overlooking the ocean.

The City of Redondo Beach recently acquired the Hotel Redondo and the beautiful grounds surrounding same, for use as a Civic Center and Municipal Park. This summer the grounds will be thrown open to picnic parties.

Keeping pace with the many other added improvements for the benefit of the citizen as well as the visitor, comes the building of the Strand walk, with its decorative lighting system. This beautiful cement walk is now open to the public and extends several miles along the ocean front, connecting Redondo Beach with Hermosa Beach.

The teacher was taking the names of the pupils and those of their fathers, as well as the latter's business. Little Jean gave the names readily, but was silent on the third question. The teacher insisted. Finally, suffused with color, Jean stammered: "Please, miss, he is Aunt Jane that does the woman's page and the beauty column of the Daily news."

DE MOLAY CHAPTER ORGANIZED HERE

Masons of Upland and Ontario who witnessed the institution of Old Baldy Chapter of the Order of De Molay for boys in Masonic Hall, Ontario, Saturday evening, June 16th, are unanimous in terming it "an epoch-making event." The De Molay Order is composed of boys from 16 to 21 years old. Its general purposes are the inculcation and practice of clean and patriotic living to prepare them for the duties of citizenship.

The big hall was filled with members of the Masonic Order, who watched about forty boys gather in quiet and watchful attitudes when the meeting was called to order by Mr. Frank Hunt, Chairman of the local Advisory Council, composed of Messrs. W. W. Mather, W. W. Cushing, R. D. Newton, A. R. Volk, Guy H. Casler, Tony Zenz, John Scott and Frank Hunt, members of Ontario Chapter No. 105, Royal Arch Masons, which organization sponsored the new chapter. Mr. Hunt introduced Dr. Marshall Stewart, founder of the order in Southern California, who acted as Grand Master Councilor, assisted by a picked team from the Alhambra, Los Angeles, Long Beach and Whittier Chapters, who instituted Old Baldy Chapter with beautiful and impressive ceremonies, and later conferred the degrees in a manner which brought expressions of surprise, admiration and wonder from many of the older Masons present.

The elective officers from among the boys, who had been selected at a former meeting for the first term are as follows: Ralph Emerson Price, Master Councilor; James Craig Hamer, Senior Councilor; John Springer, Junior Councilor; Lee Marrs, Scribe; Kenneth Lyle, Treasurer.

After the institution, Dr. Stewart sketched the growth of the order from its inception four years ago when it has grown to more than 950 chapters in the United States and over 300,000 members. As of March 1, 1923, there were 63 chapters in California, with membership over 8,500. It is expected that the order will shortly be introduced into England, Scotland, and other foreign countries.

He gave many instances of the salutary effect the order had had on the character and lives of the boys and young men composing it, and in closing said: "Our boys of today will be the men of tomorrow. On them must fall the duties and responsibilities of government. Then why not give every ounce of good influence to help them start right?" After the ceremonies were over, one old Mason was heard to exclaim: "Thank God for the Order of De Molay; the future of America is safe in their hands."

GLORIOUS PICNIC RE-UNION OF NEW ENGLANDERS

Under the auspices of the New England Society President Dr. Paul K. Sellow announces a patriotic reunion of all former New Englanders in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles, all day, Saturday, June 30th, 1923. (NOT JULY 4th.) Headquarters will be open for each county in the six states. Bring your cup and basket dinner, but hot coffee will be supplied for all. Now it is up to you New Englanders to make this a popular success and to bring out the thousands who are here from our old home states. There will be a fine program of addresses and music in the afternoon. Tell all your friends to come out and have a happy day in the park with old friends and neighbors.

Jacques DeMolay, the hero after whom the order has been named, was born in the year 1237, the scion of a noble family, and at an early age entered the Order of the Temple. In 1297 he was constituted the 23rd Grand Master of the Order. The Order of the Temple had been founded in the year 1113, and its main purpose was the protection of Christianity in the Holy Land. Sons of the noblest families in every country in Europe filled its ranks and even princes of the royal blood eagerly sought service under its banners. Crusades on a tremendous scale were organized year after year with the object of recovering the Holy Land from the hands of the infidels and in the sanguinary wars which ensued the flower of European knighthood was lost. The Order amassed great wealth and this no doubt aroused the covetousness of King and Church and resulted in its downfall. Phillip the Fair, the infamous King of France, had become extremely jealous of the Order. He conspired with Pope Clement the Fifth to bring about the downfall of the Order and as a consequence the Grand Master, Jacques DeMolay, was summoned to appear for trial. At the instigation of Phillip, the Knights Templar throughout the country were thrown into dungeons and put to death in a most barbarous manner. The Pope issued a decree abolishing the Order of the Temple and perpetually prohibiting everyone from entering it or representing himself as a member, and the King confiscated all the property belonging to the Order.

Not satisfied with the barbarous treatment of men who were standing for righteous principles, Jacques DeMolay was taken from his prison in Paris and burned at the stake.

New Factory Sure

Ontario was assured of a new factory which will give steady employment to from 20 to 40 men from the onset, when members of the manufacturing committee of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, numbering Welles T. Ross, chairman; N. E. Trautman, A. R. Volk, Clayton K. Close and C. H. Dyke, Saturday entered into a contract which will bring to this city from El Paso, Texas, an automobile specialty manufacturing concern, whose machinery and equipment is valued at more than $50,000.

A site for the new factory along a spur track of the Southern Pacific Company near the plant of the Southern Counties Gas Company in the south-eastern portion of the city has been selected and work on the erection of the factory building is to start this week, it is said.

The concern will be known in the future as the Ontario Motor Products Company. It is a closed corporation, there being no stock for sale, and N. S. Williams is president of the company. It is a going concern and the move is a result of the desire to get nearer the coast and closer to its center of distribution. The company now has distributing stations at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Chicago.

The factory in El Paso is now giving employment to 40 men, but it is expected that the plant here will start with about half that number until it can get its men broken in.

B. W. Spencer, secretary of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, was largely instrumental in bringing the factory here.

Handsome New Church

With the issuance Saturday morning by City Building Inspector O. S. Roen of a permit to build to the Catholic Bishop of Los Angeles and Monterey, work was under way today on the erection of a handsome new edifice for St. George's Roman Catholic Church, the contract having been let to the Campbell Construction Company.

Issuance of this permit brings Ontario's June total, with nearly two weeks yet to go, to $104,025 and that for the year to date to $556,890.

The new church edifice promises to be one of the handsomest structures of its kind in the city. It is to occupy an attractive site at the northwest corner of D street and Palm ave., just across the street from the parochial school. The church will face on D street. The building will be of red brick construction and will be 53 feet in width by 112 feet deep.

At the southwest corner of the building and to the right of the entrance will be a tower with spire reaching to a height of 65 feet. Art stone, probably red granite, to harmonize with the brick, will be used around the casings of the stained glass windows.

The central auditorium will be constructed with vaulted ceiling and will have a seating capacity of 450. At either side of the altar and sanctuary at the rear will be rooms for priest's sacristy and boys' sacristy. The church is to be equipped with a high class pipe organ and the interior finish will be entirely in mahogany. The choir loft will be at the front of the church over

MAY BAR SMOKERS FROM NAT'L FORESTS

Tobacco smoking ban over the San Bernardino County Mountains and the forest reserves is being seriously considered by forest reserve supervisors as a result of the recent Lytle Canyon blaze and other fires of the last few weeks.

Extreme carelessness and gross negligence of smokers, especially smoking motorists, in the forests are blamed for the early summer blazes.

Forest reserve supervisors, through their police powers, have ample authority to bar smoking from forests as well as to enforce even more drastic measures in an effort to prevent destructive conflagrations, according to a warning being circulated by the Automobile Club of Southern California. Motorists are urged by the club to be more careful with their burning tobacco.

Probe of Cause of Fire Starts
Rigid investigation of early summer forest fires in this section of the state has revealed the cause of many of them to have been cigarettes discarded by motorists, the motor organization report says. Statistics show that summer months, June, July and August especially, comprise the season when forest fires break out in greatest number.

If, with a smoking ban in effect, forest fires increase, more drastic means, such as barring motorists, hikers and picnickers from the forest reserves, might be taken, says the report.

The fire in Lytle Canyon, according to Supervisor Charlton of the Angeles forest reserve, was undoubtedly caused by a careless smoker. The report showed that it cost $2,000 to extinguish the blaze, and that the value of the timber destroyed would exceed that amount. Great damage was done to the watershed of the San Bernardino, Rialto and Fontana districts.

Charlton received a report from his rangers that Howard Grosvenor, of 5048 Navarro Street, had been fined $100 by Judge Newell of Pasadena for failure to observe the regulations as to camp fires.

the entrance. It is to be rushed to completion.

Ban Realty Signs

Signs of realty brokers will no longer mar the beauty of Ontario's streets, it was announced today following the monthly meeting of the Ontario-Upland Realtors' Association, at which Clayton K. Close, chairman of a committee appointed to take the matter up, reported that all members had signed an agreement to remove all present signs and to refrain from further labeling of property handled by them.

Action by the association followed a veritable plastering of portions of the city, particularly along Euclid avenue, with glaring realtors' signs and it is believed the new order will materially increase Ontario's attractiveness. F. B. Chaffee and Ralph M. Myers were other members of the anti-sign committee.

Two new members were voted into the association and the applications of five others were received by the secretary, James R. Austin. The meeting was held at the Hotpoint Club and the president, Charles Frankish, occupied the chair.

Endorse Street Opening

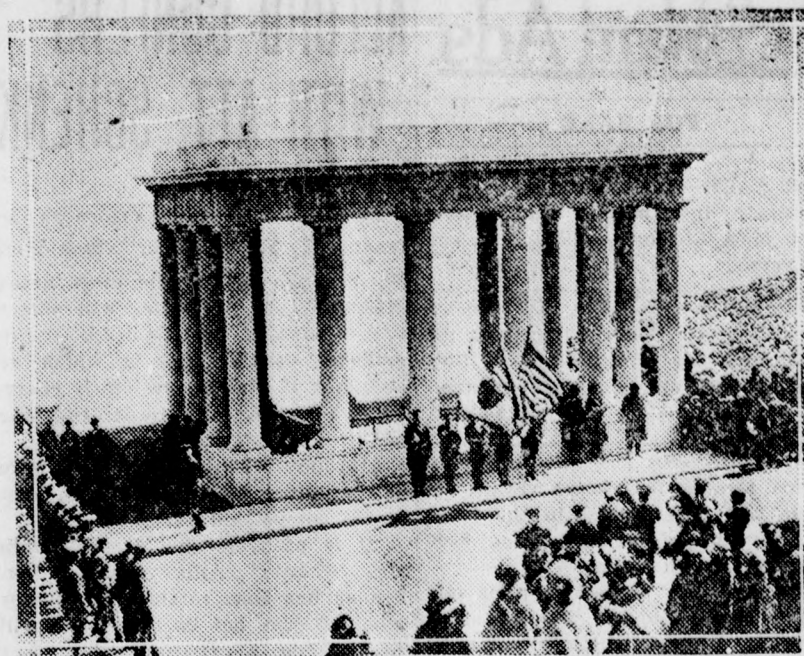

Members of the City Planning Commission were on record today as favoring the opening of a new street eastward from Euclid ave., midway between J and Fourth streets to an extension of Columbia avenue, which they recommended be carried south to J street from Fourth, following their regular monthly meeting at the city hall.

The request for the opening of the new street was submitted by Frank C. Bell in connection with the opening of his new Rosewood Court residence sub-division. The commission recommended that the city council grant the request providing that Dr. Calvert L. Emmons and Mrs. J. M. Halfhill, owners of the property directly east of the Bell tract, also agree to the opening and to the extension of Columbia avenue.

The matter of an improved street lighting system for the city, which the commission has had in hand for some time was discussed informally, but no definite action taken, because Glenn D. Smith, general manager of the Ontario Power Company, who is working on the matter was not yet prepared to make his report. The importance of prompt action was urged.

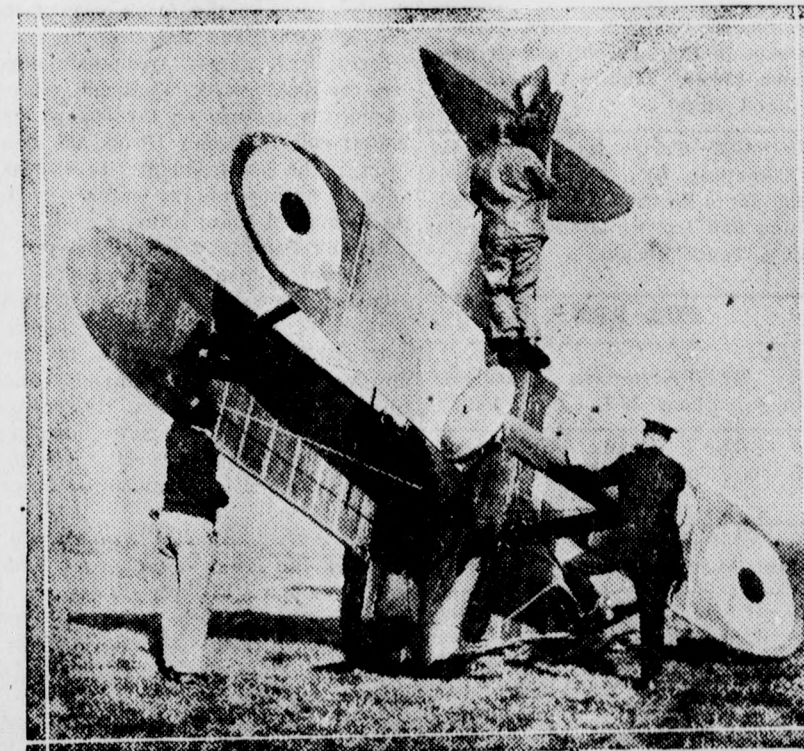

Members of the commission attending the meeting were H. E. Swan, president; Charles Frankish, Mayor Willard D. Ball, Councilman Charles Latimer and City Service Manager O. S. Roen.

A Russian newspaper reports that when Prince Dava, representative of the Mongolian government, recently arrived in Moscow he brought with him as a gift for the famine sufferers—two chests of opium.

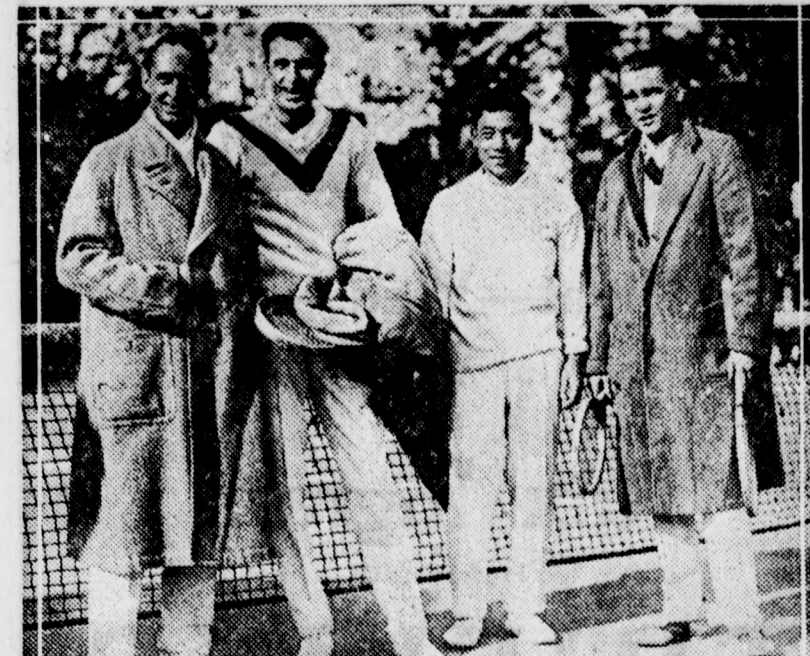

PLYMOUTH SENDS FLAG AS GREETING TO HISTORIC LEXINGTON

Photo shows the dedication at Plymouth Rock, Plymouth, Mass., of the American Flag which was carried in formal procession to the town of Lexington, Mass., as an official patriotic greeting from town to town. The ceremony was in recognition of the fact that the two towns have much in common, as shrines of American patriotism—since it was at Plymouth Rock that the Pilgrims landed; and at Lexington that the Minute Men seized their rifles to fire the shot that went 'round the world.

MAITLAND, SPEED KING, IN PLANE CRASH AT DAYTON

Lieut. Lester J. Maitland, aerial speed king of the world, smashed his "Curtiss Bullet" plane—a tiny biplane powerfully motored—as he attempted to take off on Wilbur Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, in the hope of setting new short distance speed record. The plane skidded and stood on its nose; but the pilot escaped injury.

NET STARS GIVE DEMONSTRATION OF SKILL

Famous tennis stars, known throughout the country, competed in a tournament held at the Chevy Chase Club, Washington, D. C., and society and diplomatic folk from the National Capital watched in amazement the marvelous playing. Among those in the tournament were, left to right: Sam Hardy, William Tilden, world's champion; Fukuda, Japanese champion, and Vincent Richards. The latter two players were defeated by a formidable combination of Hardy and Tilden.

CHARLIE PADDOCK, ONLY AMERICAN COMPETING STAR OF PARIS MEET

Charles Paddock (left) and Arnaud, the former French champion, training on May 1, the day before the opening of the international students' athletic meet in the new Porte Dore Stadium. The California flash was by all odds the individual star of the meet, breaking one world's sprinting record and equalling four other records, three of them his own. As a result of his participation in the meet he has been barred from the next Olympic Games.

LADY RACHEL TO WED ARMY CAPTAIN AND LIVE IN NEW YORK

New York should shortly have as one of the most beautiful members of American society a lady who might have been Princess of Wales, for Captain, the Hon. James Gray Stuart, whose engagement to Lady Rachel Cavendish has just been announced, is expected to bring his bride back with him to the United States, where he has been living and where he intends to settle. The betrothal came as a distinct shock to English society, for it was widely expected that Lady Rachel would become the bride of the Prince of Wales. Captain Stuart is the third son of the 17th Earl of Moray, descendant of James Stuart, natural son of James V.—so that Lady Rachel is marrying into a "royal" family in one sense—a family much older in its royalty than the present reigning house of England. He is an equestrian waiting to the Prince of Wales and a captain of the Royal Scots, having served in the War from '14 to '17. Lady Rachel is the fourth daughter of the Duke of Devonshire, former Governor General of Canada. Photo shows Lady Rachel Cavendish (at right) and her sister, Lady Dorothy Evelyn Macmillan.

ALFORD CONFERS WITH ATT. SCHENK

Possible shift in the attorneys defending F. E. Alford by which Paul W. Schenk, one of the most noted attorneys of California, will direct the defense of the convicted ex-city manager in the trial in which he and John E. Huling are jointly charged with a conspiracy to defraud, was admitted by Alford yesterday.

Attorney Schenk and Alford were in conference for more than an hour at the county jail yesterday. "It is probable that I will retain Mr. Schenk," Alford said. "Mr. Schenk has been retained in another criminal case, but he believes it will be possible to continue the other case and represent me in the trial beginning June 21."

Identity of Counsel Not Announced Asked if the retaining of Attorney Schenk would mean the retiring of Attorneys John L. Richardson, Raymond E. Hodge and Archie D. Mitchell, who represented Alford in his first trial, in which he was convicted, Alford was non-committal. "I cannot answer that question at this time," he said. Nor did Alford say that both Attorneys Richardson and Schenk, both among the most prominent criminal lawyers in the state, would be associated in his defense.

Mr. Richardson is directing Alford's appeal of the jury's verdict in the first trial and has been in conference with Alford frequently during the past week, apparently preparing his defense on the conspiracy indictment. Attorney Hodge has also been in the jail frequently to discuss the various phases of the defense with the convicted man, officers said.

Schenk Famous Criminal Lawyer Attorney Schenk is famous as a criminal lawyer. He defended Arthur C. Burch, accused jointly with Madalynne Obenchain of the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, and Lieutenant Louis Jacobs, the accused slayer of Fritz Mann, dancer, at San Diego, and appeared as the defense counsel in a number of other noted cases.

Chief Deputy District Attorney M. O. Hert and Associate Counsel Walter E. Byrne will prosecute. With the payment yesterday by Walter J. Dozier, Alford's wealthy uncle of New York, of the liens against the Alford Block in Ontario, sale of the building by the sheriff to satisfy creditors was prevented. The block was to have gone under the hammer today. Dozier holds a $15,000 mortgage on the building.

GATE CITY TO AID SUMMER CAMPERS

For the convenience of vacationists, the Rim of the World section of the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce has opened the Log Cabin Information Bureau on the main floor of the Pacific Electric Main Street station, Los Angeles, for the season of 1923, the Bureau being in charge of S. A. Skinner, of Redlands, who was also in charge last year, and will be assisted during the present season by Mrs. D. R. Brothers, who is likewise familiar with all the mountain resorts contiguous to Los Angeles.

New illustrated folder has been issued by the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce for this work and is on distribution at Main street ticket office Pacific Electric Railway, and all other resort information bureaus in Southern California, as well as with ticket agents of the Pacific Electric.

Through traffic arrangements have been made between Pacific Electric Railway from points on its system through to all points on the Rim of the World served by the Motor Transit Company from San Bernardino and Redlands, and agents of the Pacific Electric will sell tickets through and make reservations for either regular or de luxe stage service as may be desired by patrons.

Indications are that the demands for accommodations at the various resorts along the Rim of the World will be far in excess of last year and, in anticipation of increased demand for vacation accommodations, all of the resorts have made extensive improvements and extensions. Both train and stage service have been harmonized to make best possible connection to and from the mountains between stage and electric trains.

CALIFORNIA EDITORS MEET AT YOSEMITE

By John E. King of The Hemet News

Elected for the twenty-first consecutive term as president of the California Press Association at a business meeting held Thursday evening in Yosemite Park, Governor Friend William Richardson was given an ovation seldom equalled in the annals of newspaper history. Coming unostentatiously to the convention as the head of the organization, the governor spent the entire week fraternizing with his comrades as "one of the boys," and there was no effort either to capitalize his high position or to pose as other than "Friend" to Jim and Joe and Jack and Bill. Probably nowhere is there a more democratic organization than the editorial association, for partisanship is forgotten and social and personal superiority decided.

The re-election of Governor Richardson was unanimous, and no other candidate was considered for the position. It is a remarkable tribute of genuine affection and appreciation that both the nominating and seconding addresses were made by Democratic editors, and it is a matter of history that out of the hundred or more Democratic papers in California all but two or three supported Richardson with whole-hearted enthusiasm in the campaign for governor last year.

In all the world there is but one Yosemite. For natural beauty and for height and massiveness of sheer rocks and hills, it is unequalled. Lofty cliffs, romantic vistas, waterfalls of extraordinary height, and the green and gray of the valley floor all combine to charm the eye and delight the imagination. Here indeed is food for the fundamentalist to construct in his mind's eye a vision of the work of the ages, for once the Merced flowed at the level of the canyon top, and the maddened waters, enormous in the thousands of years ago, rushing swiftly down a steep-pitched course, gradually scraped out this beautiful canyon with its tools of rock and sand. And, as the water cut the valley, it left the tributary streams sloping ever more sharply from their levels until eventually they poured over the brink as giant waterfalls. Geologists have determined by unerring fact that the river did by far the most of the work, and that the great glacier which followed the water ages afterwards did little more than square its corners and steepen its cliffs. During the uncountable years since the glaciers vanished, erosion has again used its wonder chisel. With the lessening of the Merced's volume the effect was no longer to deepen the channel but to amazingly carve and decorate the walls.

Running down the sides of the sheer hills are eight or ten marvelous waterfalls, from 500 to 1,000 feet above the floor of the valley. Yosemite Falls, for instance, drop 1,430 feet in one sheer fall, a height equal to nine Nagasas piles one on top of the other. The lower Yosemite Falls, immediately below, has a drop of 320 feet, or two Nagasas more. Vernal Falls has the same height, while Illionette Falls is 50 feet higher. Nevada Falls drops 594 feet sheer; the celebrated Bridal Veil Falls 620 feet, while the Ribbon Falls, highest of all, drops 1,612 feet sheer, a straight fall nearly ten times as great as Niagara. No where else in the world may be had a water spectacle such as this.

And the sheer summits. Cathedral Rocks rise 2,591 feet vertically from the valley; El Capitan, king of rocks, three times the size of Gibraltar, 3,604 feet; Sentinel Dome, 4,157 feet; Half Dome, 4,892 feet; Cloud's Rest, 5,964 feet. The four sides of El Capitan, if laid on the ground, would cover 648 acres, and it is a single piece of granite!

The editorial party, numbering 160, met at Merced, going by the Yosemite Valley Railroad to El Portal, from whence they were taken to Yosemite Lodge, a distance of 14 miles, by automobile. At the lodge the members were assigned to cabins, and given meals at the lodge dining room. It is the universal belief of the editors that nowhere is there more efficient mountain resort service or greater desire to impress upon the visitor the fact that he is thrice welcome.

Governor Richardson provided little of a set program aside from a trip to Vernal and Nevada Falls on Tuesday, a trip to Hetch-Hetchy on Wednesday and another to the Mariposa big trees on Friday. Many hiking trips to the various summits overlooking the valley were available for those desiring to take them. Each evening a program of entertainment was provided at the pavilion. On Monday evening felicitations were expressed by a dozen or more speakers, and a similar program was carried out on Tuesday. The business meeting was held Thursday evening, and reports from officers were read and new officials elected, or rather the old officials were re-elected.

The list of officers include Friend W. Richardson, Berkeley Gazette, president; Justus F. Cramer, Orange News, vice-president; Oran A. King, Jackson Ledger, secretary; Robert W. Walker, Vallejo Times, treasurer. The executive committee is composed
